TEETH

Don't Last Forever.

Once Father Time gets at them with his file their trouble is ahead. A great deal may be done to resist their wear and tear. One of the most valuable things a dentist can give a patient is examination. He looks the teeth all over—finds a tiny cavity—fills it—charges a price the size of the cavity—and lots of trouble and money are saved. It's the little things that count—the stopping of things before they begin. Examination free.

This is to certify that Jan. 25, 1897, morning had twenty-two teeth extracted by Dr. Schiffman, and suffered no pain nor after effects, and I heartily recommend his method.

A FEW HINTS TO MINING INVESTORS.

To the average thoughtful and conservative investor, mining is looked upon as an exceedingly hazardous venture, one almost sure to prove disastrous, and embodying every known objectionable feature in the market of investment. In the generally accepted term of mining this feature has been too often demonstrated to be entirely overlooked, but when the system of the work is thoroughly understood the result is readily explained, and no one can but realize that there are, or can be, two sides to the question.

Here is a cursory glance at a mining venture: Four or five men own a claim on which "traces" of ore have been found—not necessarily in paying quantities to assure a profit, but enough to show "color" and thereby throw a hint as to what possibly exists beneath the surface.

The majority of miners have not sufficient means, nor are they in a position to procure the necessary capital to develop their claims, even after their value has been successfully demonstrated; hence a Stock Company is formed and part of the stock of the company is offered to the public to provide money in order that development work can be continued to thoroughly determine the value of the property. If it proves of no value your money is gone, but if you invest in a company like ours, with seven mines sufficiently developed to assure large and continuous dividends, and other valuable mining interests, your chance of failure is reduced to almost nothing.

It is certainly a well-known fact that a great many mines have been worked and large quantities of ore brought to sight, but continued development was impossible owing to the lack of necessary funds. If you have a mine with $100,000 ore in sight you are sure of having $100,000, and nothing can take it from you, as fire cannot burn and floods cannot destroy it. Panic cannot affect it, as gold is the universal standard of value, so we can truly feel in gold mining, as in no other business, our profits are secure. In the VAL VERDE group alone experts assure us that we have upwards of $250,000 in sight; hence in working these properties we are working on practically a sure thing, as the positive profits in sight will pay large dividends on the investment, and as we work collectively a number of these developed claims it gives us an excellent opportunity of presenting a proposition of unquestioned superiority, compared to the average mining venture, as besides the VAL VERDE properties, which include Val Verde No. 1, Val Verde No. 2 and Val Verde No. 3, we also own the Luna Solar, Zephyr and La Monte mines (comprising 140 acres), besides our water privileges and profits from our quartz mills, which any one enterprise may prove a bonanza in itself. By investing with us you do not place all your eggs in one basket, for if only one or two mines prove profitable we can afford to pay handsome dividends on the entire capitalization of the company. Our plan is purely mutual, as all are on an equal basis. No stock is set aside for the officers of the company, unless it is paid for by them the same as by any other shareholder. We invite you to join us, and will be pleased to receive your subscription for as many shares of the above company as may be agreeable to you. Price 25 cents per share. Par value $1.00. Fully paid and non-assessable. Shares advance in price after July 22. Subscription books are now open at the office of the Company, No. 319 Wilcox Building, where T. J. Trafford Huteason will be pleased to receive your subscription. Correspondence invited.

HEREDITY. A large audience gathered in Unity Church last evening to hear Mrs. Helen H. Gardener lecture on the subject, "Can Heredity be Modified?" The speaker, who is a woman of charming personality and sincere, unassuming manner, was introduced by the well-known philanthropist, Mrs. D. G. Stephens. The latter spoke emphatically of the importance of the subject, and the great ability of the speaker about to be heard, of her powerful use of pen and voice to uplift humanity, of her noble stand for a higher, better and purer life for men, women and children, and her courage in daring to stand for purity in men as well as women.

Mrs. Gardener prefaced her lecture with the explanation that it was the second in a course, the preceding one, on "Heredity," being the basis upon which it was founded. She assured her hearers that facts lay behind all that she had to say, and that she had to present was demonstrable. She stated that she aimed to be the connecting link between the strictly scientific and the popular, and that her ideas in language easily comprehensible to even the most unscientific. First drawing attention to a few brief facts, she said that the fact that the child of negro parents would be colored and possess kinky hair; that the child of Mongolian parents would be Mongolian. And, to come down to family types and characteristics, nobody questioned the carrying of faces, forms, walk and temperament. In post-graduate work in Columbia College, New York, in which the speaker had taken part, she had witnessed the experiment of making guinea pigs epileptic, and had seen that for eight generations the little pigs had inherited the produced characteristics of their parents.

Proceeding to her subject, "Can Heredity be Modified?" she said: "It has been well said by Herbert Spencer, 'The more recently by Prof. Osborn of Columbia College, that the question involved in the discussion of heredity is not a temporary issue, and that its solution will affect all future thought. Whether or not acquired character is transmitted to children is the most important question that confronts the human race, for it is upon the character of the race—its prosperity, its development, its future, that the question depends.'"

No school of scientists questions the fact of heredity; but there has been a warm and greatly misunderstood contest over the exact method of inheritance in the transmission. Now, so far as the general public is concerned, so far as the sociological features of the case go, so far as personal conduct is involved, it does not matter a straw's weight whether the theory of heredity held by Lamarck and Darwin, or the one advanced recently by Weismann, be correct. It matters not whether a man's drunkenness, for example, is transmitted to his child directly as plain drunkenness, or an undue appetite for liquor, or whether it descends to him as a merely weakened and undermined "germ plasma," as Weismann held, which will tend to alcoholism, imbecility or what not. Whichever or whatever the exact process may be (which is the province of scientists only), the facts and results are before us and concern each of us more vitally than does the question of what we shall eat or what we shall drink or whether we shall be clothed."

To prove her belief in the transmission of acquired character and condition, the speaker stated that she had consulted with many well-known physicians in general practice and at the head of the best hospitals, and had found them emphatically of her opinion. That a mere local amputation would not be transmitted, but that a permanent constitutional condition would be, though not always in the same form. The point was illustrated profusely with cases cited by physicians of wide experience.

Continuing, the lecturer said: "I beg of you to remember that while the fact of heredity is as certain as death itself, its course of action, its variability of operation, is as the March winds. To say that the constitution of your children will be determined in great part by the condition of your body and mind is to utter a truism, but to say exactly how, in what given channel, and under what flow, is not, in the present state of biological and medical knowledge, possible."

"But heredity is not the whole story, any more than the foundation is the whole house. It is undoubtedly true that what we will, labor as we may, heredity is as certain as the eternal hills, it is equally true that the power of environment, the conditions under which we develop, or re-structure our inherited tendencies, will determine in large part whether heredity shall be our slave-driver or our companion in the race for life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, and whether we will pass on to our children a better or a worse, a weakened or a strengthened inheritance. It doubles our responsibility to realize that we are responsible for both the physical, mental and moral quality and condition of our children, for their chances in life."

Illustrations of inherited disease and its development, the pathological phase of the subject, were given, as the speaker said, for convenience sake and because they would explain more fully, clearly and easily to most people what was meant, but that it was true that heredity was equally strong and certain in its mental and moral potentialities and tendencies for good or for ill. She declared: "It is likewise true that the environment—the conditions under which we develop—curb or direct our natural tendencies, and has a great and modifying role to play."

"Let us understand that no environment can create what is not within the individuality, that heredity has absolutely fixed this; but that environment does and must act as the one tremendous and vital power to develop and to control, happily, the inheritance which parents stamp upon their children. Notwithstanding this, you are personally responsible for the trend, the added power and development you give to much that you inherit. You are personally responsible to the coming generation for the fight it will have to make and for the strength you transmit to it to make that fight."

"And let me emphasize here that I do not attribute all of the moral and physical disasters of the race to the

The forthcoming Mining Edition will contain a volume of valuable and timely information about the yielding and paying mines, as well as about the more promising of the prospects in various mineral localities. The aim will be to give correct and reliable information in every case, with a view to promoting the mining industry as a legitimate pursuit.

Further information about this timely publication may be obtained at the office, together with terms of advertising and prices of the paper in bulk.

THE TRANSMISSISSIPPI CONGRESS AND THE SILVER QUESTION.

To say the least, it was questionable policy for the Transmississippi Congress to take up and give prominence to the silver question. There are other issues which come more legitimately within the province of that organization, which is supposed to be non-political in character.

The silver question, though not legitimately a political issue, was made distinctly so by the action of the Chicago convention of 1896, which placed Mr. Bryan in nomination for the Presidency. Inasmuch as Bryan was defeated by an overwhelming majority of the popular vote, the principal issue upon which he made his canvass became a dead issue for four years at least. The American people, on a fair vote, declared against the doctrines promulgated by the Chicago platform, and in favor of the principles represented in the candidacy of Maj. McKinley. It is pointless to take up for recalculation, at this time, the issues of the campaign of 1896. It is a fair and a safe presumption that the voters of the United States knew what they were about when they voted down the free-silver-coinage scheme. The verdict which they rendered at the polls in November, 1896, must stand until such time as they are called upon to sustain or reverse their action, in November, 1900. It is both futile and inexpedient to persist in the agitation of questions upon which the deliberate and intelligent verdict of the people has so recently been rendered.

Again: If the silver question is an issue at all, it is a political issue. As such it should have been avoided by the Transmississippi Congress, unless that organization is desirous of entering the domain of politics. When it enters that domain, its usefulness for the promotion of western interests will be practically at an end. It cannot serve, acceptably, the interests of the people at large and at the same time be the tom-tom of a political party.

There are great and vital questions affecting the progress and development of the vast empire lying west of the Mississippi River, not directly connected with politics, which will furnish ample scope for the talents of the transmississippi congressmen; and if these questions be duly and thoroughly considered, there will be no occasion to turn the organization into a political machine. The time and talents of the congress can be employed to better advantage than in the threshing over of straw from which the grain has been extracted, or in attempting to galvanize into life the decaying corpse of a moribund political issue.

The farmers of Iowa, Ohio and Indiana will get a trifle of $5,000,000 more for their wheat this year than they did last, but the calamity-criers will probably look upon it as an outrage on the men who don't raise wheat.

of all the Russias) probably rendered it quite impossible, from the point of view of consanguinity, to extend to Gladstone any honor or courtesy during the great jubilee celebrations. An eastern contemporary says that "Mr. Gladstone has published too much truth respecting the guilt of the Tory administration of the British government in its course respecting Turkey, Greece and other nations; and this forms a dark background and shadow in thoughtful minds over the glory of the Queen's jubilee."

Many of that Tory administration will go to graves unwept and unsung, but when Gladstone dies it will not only be England that will mourn him, but—
"The murmurs of woe kindred, tongues and people will sweep in on every gale."

As Whittier wrote of another great, liberal and philanthropic Englishman, so it can be said of Gladstone, when he has left us:
"For never yet, with ritual pomp and splendor, A heart more loyal, true and tender, Has England's turf closed o'er."

New York importers of tea are confronted by a condition which they find to be more binding than a theory. Anticipating the levying of a duty of 10 cents per pound on tea, as proposed in the House Tariff Bill, they bought all the foreign tea they could get, expecting to corner the market and advance the price on the strength of the duty, at the same time depriving the government of the revenue which it should receive under the duty. Consignments of tea are arriving in New York by every steamer, and will amount in the aggregate to between 15,000,000 and 20,000,000 pounds. In the mean time the proposition to place a duty on tea has been abandoned. The theory of tariff-taxing tea held by the importers proved untenable, and the hard condition of a heavily-overstocked market confronts them. Their visions of vast profits have vanished into attenuated air, and they will do well if they save themselves from bankruptcy. It is plainly a case in which vaulting ambition overleaped itself, and the importers will not receive a very great amount of sympathy. Meanwhile, tea will be unusually cheap.

Even Britons felt that their antiquated curses, which crop up like fossils in the three lines of "God Save the Queen," given in yesterday's Times, were something to be thrown into the waste basket; for, on Sunday, the 20th of June, there was at all the services in all the cathedrals, churches, chapels and halls where worship was held throughout the United Kingdom, an added verse, written by the Dean of Rochester. Instead of confounding the "politicians" and frustrating the "knaveish tricks" of enemies, both at home and abroad, the new verse contains pretty near the same petition, but with more poetry (?) and in better English, although the

"Let there be peace" sounds very much as if stolen from Gen. Grant's "Let us have peace." The effect must have been grand, when in every place of worship throughout the British realm the congregations arose and joined in singing the added stanza to the majestic air of "God Save the Queen."

"O Lord our God arise,
Scatter her enemies,
Make war to cease!
Keep us from plague and death,
Turn Thou our woes to mirth,
And over all the earth
Let there be peace!"

The Pasadena News has the following sensible and timely words to say regarding the proposed grand highway between the two major cities of the county. Their perusal is commended to those to whom it will be found to apply:

"It is hoped that the enterprising public-spirited men who are pushing the boulevard matter between Pasadena and Los Angeles will continue their work in the broad spirit in which they have begun. Pasadena, a wealthy city, wants an easy, direct boulevard to Los Angeles, a prosperous metropolis. They want the shortest and most direct way between these two objective points. The question of improving this lot or that tract along the route should not be taken into consideration at all. Private interests should give way to public good. There are some men so small that they would change the course of such a boulevard because their chicken coop might have to be moved. It is small business for a few klicks to raise a hullabaloo and false alarm about some corporation's hand manipulating the choice of routes. Let there be some evidence that greatest good to the greatest number is not being conserved before a cry is raised."

The late Banquet Famine at Hazard's Pavilion, where men hungered and were sad, is about to get into the courts. The ramifications of the case will be looked for by the great stall-fed public with much interest. Mr. Bryan will probably be called, as a banquet expert, and a gingery old time will be had generally among the unfed silvercrats who refuse to pay their bills and the instigators of the hungry episode. We call upon our hungry, though rotund friend, Judge Phillips to come forward as volunteer counsel for the emaciated Democracy, likewise the craving silvercrat, and the pauper Popocrats, and do his level best to stand off the wolfish caterer who has camped on the doorkill of the depleted Bryan banqueters.

The English newspapers indulge in an unnecessary amount of petulant comment upon Secretary Sherman's recent communication on the Bering Sea question. But the facts as set forth by Secretary Sherman are not denied in any important particular. The principal objection appears to be against the manner rather than the matter of Secretary Sherman's dispatch. If he had interlarded it liberally with diplomatic taffy, and quoted a few passages from "God Save the Queen," it would have been all right. But the Secretary of State is not built that way; he is on the right track, and his statement goes.

If our merchants would gain and hold Mexican trade they must bestir themselves. What is worth having in this world must be gone after with vigor, pluck and determination. Los Angeles should have a big trade with the republic to the south of us, and now that we have steamship connection with its ports the best rustlers in business should be sent out to corral our share of what is going in the way of commerce. The Lord prospers the rustler, and as this city has been built up to its present magnificence by that class he should reach out and conquer new worlds. Let's conquer the trade of Mexico!

The calamity-shriekers are cautioned against reading the dispatch printed yesterday which shows that never before have the merchandise exports from the United States reached so high a figure as during the last fiscal year; the amount being placed at $23,000,000 in excess of any previous like period. The excess of imports over exports was nearly $300,000,000. These figures speak with such a stentorian tone that comment cannot be heard.

It is gratifying, on his own account as well as on our own, to learn that the Secretary of War will proceed to advertise for bids for construction of the deep-sea harbor at San Pedro as soon as Congress adjourns. Mr. Alger will be doing the right and lawful thing, and will at the same time spare himself some episodes of unpleasantness should it become necessary for Senator White to arise and make further remarks.

The English press intimates that Secretary Sherman is no gentleman, but, if he isn't, he hasn't anything the best of Queen Victoria. However, all this does not cut much figure as to whether our British brethren are living up to the seal treaty. That is what Uncle Sam insists shall be done, even if they call every individual official in this country a wife-beater and a son-of-a-gun on wheels.

The lynching and roasting of negroes still goes on in the South, the latest example of this sort of diabolical fiendishness having occurred at West Point, Tenn. This is becoming a problem that the country will have to settle in some way, sometime. It cannot go on forever to the shame, disgrace and degradation of American manhood and to the debasement of civilization.

The American sculler, Dr. McDowell, is giving a handsome account of himself in English water at Henley, and his countrymen rejoice in his prowess and will be delighted to see him come away with a beautiful row of scapels at his belt. We are not advised whether the doctor is a dentist, but if so, he certainly adorns his profession as a puller.

Having talked the Pacific Coast to a dead standstill, Mr. Bryan is now resting his lacerated throat in Salt Lake, much to the peace and quietness of the country. It is a pleasant lull in the conversation which everybody should enjoy as much as possible while it lasts, for even with the most sublime faith we cannot hope for it to last long.

Senator Stewart stirred up "Our Steve" to his great sorrow, and unless the harbor question is settled promptly and properly there are others who may expect to have their hides hung on the fence by the Senator from Los Angeles, who carries a trusty blade and wears in his bosom a brave and resolute heart.

The Bimetallism Commission is making steady progress in its labors in England, and the prospects for a solution of the vexed currency question are most promising. In the light of these proceedings the free-silver howling of Bryan and his followers is comparable only to the braying of wild asses in the wilderness.

The news that Spain and Japan are going to join forces and do all sorts of unpleasant things to Uncle Sam does not scare us so long as they have that sunset gun at San Diego to protect the western coast. Bring on your warships and see that piece of artillery make breaches in their armor!

Kansas City is considerably torn up because the Police Commissioners talk of putting female malefactors at work on the rock pile in overalls. A city, however, that is filled with billowing shirt waists ought not to scridge at overalls—they are not so very many more.

The friendly professions of Japan are well enough, so far as they go. But the administration is keeping an eye to the windward, and will not be caught napping in case the Hawaiian situation should demand energetic action.

The German Lutheran Synod has selected San Francisco, instead of Los Angeles, as the meeting place for next year's convention. Another illustration of the old adage that "there is no accounting for tastes."

Tammany paid Mr. Cleveland the compliment of hissing his letter on the Fourth. A hiss from Tammany is always a compliment; it is only its applause that blithely like a sea serpent and stinging like an adding-machine.

Chicago is so delighted at having a breeze after the recent season of roast that the newspapers are printing pictures of it. Even a breeze cannot escape the facile pencil of a Portknot artist.

WILL RETAIN HIS SEAT.

SENATOR CORBETT EXPECTS TO SERVE HIS TERM.

Senator Hoar's Resolution Was Aimed at Pitt Kellogg—How Ex-Senators Became Lobbyists. The Present Session a Bonanza for Statesmen Out of Jobs.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]
WASHINGTON, July 17.—Some time ago it was believed that ex-Senator Corbett would be seated from Oregon. There has never been a case involving the same principle. In those cases relied upon by the opposition as precedents, there was an actual session of the legislature intervening between the time the vacancy occurred and the appointment. In such cases it has been held that the Governor could not appoint. In the Oregon case it is contended that no session of the Legislature was held, and it was not a failure of a legislature to make a choice, but a failure to meet at all. This view was ably upheld in the majority report, and it was believed that as the seating of Senator Corbett would not change the political complexion of the Senate, there would be enough independent votes to seat him. In fact, it is said that these votes were promised as soon as the question of seating Corbett was brought up, and that nothing will be done until next winter. In the meanwhile Senator Corbett is confident that he will succeed in retaining the seat to which he was appointed.

Senator Hoar's resolution abridging the privileges of ex-United States Senators has had the effect of its predecessors of similar nature and nothing will result from it. To deprive these Senators of the privilege of the floor would be to invite a revolution, and the Senate would not do that. At the same time the resolution was introduced the only ex-Senators here so far as is known, were Call, Ingalls, Henderson, Briggs, Edwards, Kellogg and Bruce. Senators Kellogg and Bruce live here, as does Senator Henderson, the latter, however, seldom taking advantage of his privileges, and Kellogg is still seen at the Capitol. Ex-Senator Clayton is frequently here, but was not when the resolution referred to was presented. Ex-Senator Kellogg is engaged in the practice of law, and just now is trying to secure an appointment as Register of the Treasury.

It is not without reason, therefore, that the resolution referred to principally ex-Senator Kellogg, who retains just enough of a residence in Louisiana to enable him to introduce resolutions to national conventions. He is still certainly active, young, and as active as when in reconstruction days he wielded so potent an influence in southern politics. He has been successful in procuring a financial point of view, and owns some very fine property in Washington. While it would perhaps be unfair to accuse him of being a professional lobbyist, there is no session during which he is not active in securing the defeat or passage of one of more important measures. He lived South long enough to acquire the soft-measured tones of a true southerner, and it would be difficult to recognize the brisk, breezy Illinois Justice of the Peace in the smooth-tongued, dignified southern politician. There was a storm of protests from several ex-Senators when the resolution was introduced, and Kellogg, for whom it was especially intended, lost no time in hunting up Senator Hale and assuring him of his hearty sympathy with the measure.

The evil at any rate is not so great as to ex-Senators as it is with those who have become lobbyists. You could scarcely throw a stone into a crowd of men in a Washington hotel corridor without striking some man who has served out or is serving in Congress. At the end of two law practice is gone, he has lost his control of politics in his district, and has become enamored with Washington life, and tries to practice law here. He soon finds that there is very little money in the general practice of law, and he accepts claims sent him by former constituents. Some of these require to be brought before Congress and in this way he becomes a lobbyist, insensibly at first, but none the less certainly, until within a few years he devotes his entire attention to lobbying. The Senator term is longer, a larger proportion are re-elected, and the members of the upper house of Congress are older as a rule, which greatly reduces the number of ex-Senators who act as lobbyists. It is pretty rare to find a man who is engaged in securing the passage or defeat of a bill, what district he formerly represented in Congress, and the members of the lower house of Congress are older as a rule, which greatly reduces the number of ex-Senators who act as lobbyists. It is pretty rare to find a man who is engaged in securing the passage or defeat of a bill, what district he formerly represented in Congress, and the members of the lower house of Congress are older as a rule, which greatly reduces the number of ex-Senators who act as lobbyists.

The present session, which everyone now expects to close within the next three weeks, has proved a bonanza for the lobbyists. There is not a paragraph in the entire Tariff Bill upon which money has not been expended by producers and manufacturers to secure high or low duties. A very considerable number of Representatives who were defeated last fall have remained during this session, in some instances at salaries higher than they would have received had they been re-elected. Their occupation is now gone, and soon the only ones left will be those who belong to what might be termed the standing lobbies, Indian, railroad, etc.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—It is reported that ex-President Cleveland will in November be tendered the office of president of the University of Virginia. Heretofore the chairman of the university has been at the head of the university. TRANSMISSISSIPPI CONGRESS GOES FOR FREE MONEY.

Field Day for Oratory at Salt Lake and Bryan Gets His Work in on Delegates.

GREAT FIGHT BY CALIFORNIA.

FORD MARSHALS HER HOSTS GAL-LANTLY BUT VAINLY.

Majority Report for Unlimited Silver Coinage Adopted by a Vote of Nearly Five to One—The Speakers.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE.]

SALT LAKE (Utah), July 16.—Today was a day of excitement, strategy and at times confusion in the session of the Transmississippi Congress. The subject was free silver, and the principal figures in the discussion were California and Colorado, the latter State with a host of silver advocates who won the day, and, after a gallant struggle by the California delegation under the leadership of T. L. Ford in opposition to the measure, the congress, by a vote of nearly 5 to 1, adopted the majority resolution declaring for the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the rate of 16 to 1, without the cooperation of any foreign government.

This action was preceded by about twenty speeches, the principal ones being delivered by C. S. Thomas of Colorado and T. L. Ford of California. Hon. W. J. Bryan, after a short address, reported and threw the whole controversy into a wild state of enthusiasm.

When the congress met, every seat in the main body of the hall and the galleries was occupied. After the discussion closed nearly two hours were consumed by motions, roll-call, and parliamentary tactics. The opposition to the majority report was led mainly by Missouri delegates, with some assistance from California.

The delegates were late in assembling. After the introduction of some minor resolutions, the Committee on Permanent Organization reported, recommending Hugh Craig for president, C. L. Connel of Minnesota, L. Bradford Prince of New Mexico and Theodore Smith of Louisiana for first, second and third vice-presidents respectively. It further recommended that each State delegation choose an additional vice-president, and the election of a secretary and assistant secretary be deferred until the place of the next meeting be fixed. The report was unanimously adopted.

The next business before the congress was the discussion of the majority and minority reports of the committee on the silver question. It was arranged that Dorsey of Nebraska and Ford of California should control the time in favor of majority and minority reports respectively on the silver question.

Ford said the supporters of the minority would probably not have a little time, and he desired that opportunity be given to any delegate to speak on that side who might so desire. He then read the minority report, the chief point of which was that the silver question was a political issue, and therefore should not be discussed in this non-partisan body.

The resolution endorsing the free coinage of silver reported by the majority of the committee was then read, and C. S. Thomas of Colorado proceeded to address the house in the affirmative. He said it had been claimed that all political questions, in their last analysis, were economic. Whether this be true or not, he said, it was certainly the case in the silver question. He urged reasons why this body should discuss and express itself on this great issue; denied that the Republican party was a gold-standard party, and declared that the great governments of Europe could see the handwriting on the wall, that this giant republic was about to restore silver, and that they must prepare to fall in line.

E. V. Smalley, a delegate from Minnesota, spoke in favor of the minority report. He thought it was disconcerting for the strong silver majority to force the question on the congress, and said that if such discussion should be determined upon, Republicans were out of place in this body, and had no more right in it than they would have in a Democratic ward caucus.

He protested against crowding this Democratic partisan resolution down the throats of the Republicans, and said that if such a resolution should be adopted, it would be a disgrace to the body.

Varian of Utah addressed the convention in support of the majority report. He denied that the political character of the question was a good reason why it should not be discussed, and cited the action of the congress yesterday regarding the Hawaiian and Cuban questions, which were political.

Perkins of Nebraska followed in support of the minority report. He held it to be improper for this commercial congress to discuss a question so thoroughly political as is the silver issue.

Quinn of Montana spoke in favor of the majority report. He made a forcible argument in favor of the feasibility of free coinage.

We come to decide what the congress should do, we have got to understand what will be the effect of what it does do. The action of this convention will not be discussed by our friends who are delegates only but it will be discussed by the enemies of free coinage all over this country.

"I call attention to the fact that the gentleman from Minnesota pointed to the action taken at Denver as evidence that the silver sentiment was dying out. What can we do if they refuse to consider the silver question? They will say that we discussed Hawaii, and the people will say that the annexation of Hawaii is not nearly so important as the emancipation of this country from the Lombard-street magnates. Shall we tell them it is not a political question? They will refer to the passage of a resolution on the subject of Cuban independence. The financial independence of the United States is of more importance to the 70,000,000 of people than the political independence of Cuba. I tell you that the gold standard every year kills more people in the United States than Spain kills in Cuba. My friends have suggested that we ought not to make it hard for the people of California to come to this convention. I have just passed through California, and I can judge of the sentiment there when we declare for the free coinage of silver, we will receive the approval of more than half the people who live in California. [Applause.]

"They ask us if we offend the commercial interests of San Francisco, Los Angeles or Portland. No, but we say to the commercial interests that when they destroy the prosperity of the hills and valleys these will arouse themselves and wrest them from the greed and avarice of the financial barons. I am glad to endorse the effort the administration is putting forth in favor of international bimetalism. [Applause.] I believe bimetalism is good, and if it is good, it is good no matter who brings it.

"While the gentleman from Minnesota states that his State cast 50,000 votes for the gold standard, yet thirteen and a half million citizens declare for the bimetal standard. When I desert bimetalism you can brand me with disgrace, but if every member of this convention deserted bimetalism, I would grace me—I will fight for it still. [Applause.]

"I do not want you to misunderstand me. I am not a secretary of bimetalism. I am not because I think more of the people who live in the mountains and mining States than I do of the people who live on the plains. [Applause.] At the conclusion of Mr. Bryan's speech, Mr. Richardson of Nebraska offered a resolution endorsing the single gold standard and endorsing the congress to work for the correction of financial evils. It was put to a vote and lost, only five votes being recorded in its favor, all coming from the Missouri delegation. The pending question then was upon the adoption of the minority report.

After considerable delay and confusion the roll of States was called, resulting 85% ayes, 20%4 noes. The roll of States was then called on the majority report, and it was adopted by a vote of 244 to 48. The result was greeted with enthusiasm.

President Bryan called Mr. Craig, the new president, to the chair, and after the latter had made a short address the convention adjourned until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.

PRESENTATION TO BRYAN

SALT LAKE, July 16.—An immense crowd of people has gone to the lake at Salt Lake Pavilion tonight to see the presentation of the Transmississippi Congress this evening, when Bryan will be presented with a beautiful silver cup by the citizens of Salt Lake.

A PRESENTATION.

An immense crowd was in attendance at Salt Lake Pavilion tonight. The program was carried out as already outlined. The presentation of a silver and gold cup was made to W. J. Bryan by Hon. Thomas Kearnes of Park City. In response Mr. Bryan said: "I scarcely know what language to express my appreciation of the magnificent gift. This presents to me the people of those engaged in honest toil, is more appreciated than if it were the gift of idleness and luxury. I will treasure it as a constant witness of the greatness of your State and the kindness of your people."

The Playhouses

LOS ANGELES THEATER. A delightful performance of "The Mikado" was given by the Columbia Opera Company last night, and the organization will close its artistically successful season this evening with a grand testimonial performance to Miss MacNeill of "The Ethiopian Girl." A local artist, of distinction in the role of the Ethiopian king, the public that appreciates good music and artistic acting should turn out tonight and give this gallant little company a royal farewell at parting.

This afternoon "The Chimes of Normandy" will be the bill, and it will be a performance worth hearing.

At the City Hall yesterday the Board of Public Works and the Sewer Committee were in session and formulated their reports. The necessity of scaling down departmental estimates is said to be necessary in order to keep expenses within the municipal revenues.

At the Courthouse yesterday Judge York decided the case of Levy vs. Gibbons, a suit over a liquor account. Juan Silvas was convicted of rape, L. H. Scott was released and a Dowry case will be re-examined on a complaint issued yesterday. Harris and Jenkins the missing witnesses in the Tupper case, were caught yesterday at Santa Monica Cañon.

"We recommend that the protest from Mrs. E. M. Bennett against the proposed improvement of Thomas street be filed as time for protest has expired."

"In the matter of the petition from W. E. Deming, asking the City to change the grade of Garland avenue between Eighth and Ninth streets be changed and established, we recommend the same be referred to the City Engineer for estimate of frontage."

"We recommend that the protest from W. B. Stewart et al., against the proposed paving of Seventh street between Main and Pearl streets, be referred to the City Engineer for estimate of frontage."

"Your Sewer Committee begs leave to report as follows: We recommend that the bid of C. L. Powell to sewer Gleason avenue and Mathews street at 66-10 cents per lineal foot for the sewer complete, be accepted and the necessary resolution of award adopted."

"We recommend that the assessment diagram for the severing of Chicago street between First street and Brooklyn avenue, be approved."

CITY TAX RATES.

Estimates of Many Departments Must Be Reduced.

City Auditor Nichols now has the difficult task ahead of him of passing on the estimates of prospective expenses which have been submitted to him by the heads of the various city departments. Then will follow the work of fixing the tax rate for the present fiscal year after the Council has completed its labors as the Board of Equalization.

The estimates for the past year amounted to $678,940.72, but about $1,500 in taxes are still delinquent. Outside of taxes, from various sources, the receipts of the city treasury last year amounted to $267,000, of which more than $12,000 was collected from the sale of franchises, which source of revenue is closed under the present law. The tax rate last year was $1.30, $1 for general purposes producing $224,547.22, and 30 cents for the interest and sinking fund producing $156,359.39. No levy was made last year on property in the annexed district for the latter fund.

The total estimates for this year as-gregate $16,000, from which the expenses of street sprinkling and street lighting are omitted. The fire department alone asks for an increase of $66,000 and the police department for $24,000. Large additional allowances are called for by Street Superintendent Drain and City Engineer Dockweiler and nearly every department of the city government has filed a claim for larger appropriations.

At the present time the probabilities are that the total assessed valuation of property in the city will not exceed $58,000,000, which, with a tax rate of $1.30 as at present, would produce only $754,000, supposing that it were all collected. To finance would be added the current income from licenses and other sources. The necessity clearly exists, therefore, for scaling down many of the estimates. However, imperative may be the demands for increased service in many departments. A saving of $6000 is made by the reduction of the old issues of city bonds, but that is a mere drop in the bucket. The most serious difficulty which the city has to face is the growing exorbitance of the fire, police, street and school departments, which are acknowledged on all sides to be inadequate to cope with the increased population and territory of the city. The situation has been made more embarrassing by the inability of the city to issue and sell gold-bearing bonds under the recent decision of the Supreme Court.

The Council and City Auditor Nichols take a gloomy view of the future of the city. They recognize the justice in a way of the popular demand for better streets, better police service, extended fire protection and enlarged school accommodations, but with the limited revenue in sight, they do not see their way clear at present to make allowance for anything more than a gradual extension of the public service.

Supply Committee.

The Supply Committee met yesterday and passed upon a number of requisitions. The number was smaller than usual.

Mayor's Expenses.

The estimate of expenses for 1897-8 for the Mayor's office is as follows: Mayor's salary, $3600; clerk's salary, $1500; supplies, $135; total, $5235.

Delinquent Tax Sales.

The annual sale of property for delinquent city taxes was made on Wednesday, the property being bought in by the city under the law. The total amount of delinquent taxes this year was about $11,500, as against $9000 for 1895-6, and $2500 for 1894-5. The total amount of taxes which became delinquent, when the time for the payment expired exceeded $22,000, but by special efforts made by the City Tax Collector, enough redemptions were made before the date of sale to reduce that amount by fully one-half.

[AT THE COURT HOUSE.]

ATTORNEY MILLS'S COUP.

HARRIS AND JENKINS CAPTURED IN SANTA MONICA CANYON.

Detectives and Peace Officers Fall Where an Attorney Meets With Success—The Trial of Col. L. Tupper Takes Place Today.

The case of Col. L. Tupper, charged with complicity in a scheme to pass a gun to train-wrecker "Kid" Thompson, came up for trial in Department One of the Superior Court yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. Twice before had Tupper's case been called for trial and each time postponed because of the absence of Fay Harris and Harry Jenkins, two men who the attorneys for the defense declared were most important witnesses.

The case was again postponed yesterday, as Harris and Jenkins had not been found. The bench warrant issued for their arrest had first been ordered placed in the hands of the County Coroner, on the ground that the Sheriff's office was directly interested in the matter. Owing to the Coroner's absence from the city, the bench warrant had been given to George E. Gard's detective agency.

Deputy District Attorney McComas had demanded that the Sheriff's office should also be given bench warrants for the arrest of Harris and Jenkins, and Judge Smith so ordered. It was agreed yesterday morning that the trial of Juan Silvas for the rape of Jennie Quinones, should first be proceeded with, and the Tupper case follow it. As the trial of Silvas was concluded yesterday afternoon, Tupper's trial will be commenced this morning.

If Harris and Jenkins had those witnesses still been able to escape the officers and other interested parties. But Harp and Jenkins were not able to escape. They were caught yesterday afternoon at Santa Monica Cañon by W. E. Deming, Esq., one of Tupper's counsel, and Deputy Sheriff White at Santa Monica and brought to Los Angeles. They saw him and ran away, but with the assistance of other persons he caught them. They objected to returning to Los Angeles, but Mills stuck to them and finally got them to Santa Monica after several attempts on their part to break away. In Santa Monica Mills saw Jailer Kennedy across the street. He called to Kennedy, "Mills," and asked him to come across the street. He asked me to come over where he was, but I insisted that he come to me."

"I said, 'Mr. Kennedy, you are an officer. Here are your men. I place them in your charge.' Kennedy said he did not care to accept Harris and Jenkins, but when I insisted upon placing the men under arrest, he said he would not take them unless I went along with them. We went to a store and sat down and before long Deputy Sheriff White and Manahan turned up. White at once placed Harris and Jenkins under arrest by serving the papers on them. Then we all came to Los Angeles. Harris and Jenkins stoutly maintain that they were never served by either defense or prosecution with subpoenas to appear at the Tupper trial. I did not speak to either of the men as to what their testimony in the Tupper trial would be."

Jailer Kennedy says he searched the Santa Monica wharf and the saloons yesterday without finding the men, and when he heard that Mills had found them, he sent White and Manahan to the cañon to bring them in. Harris and Jenkins were not placed in the County Jail last night, but were taken to a hotel by Deputy Sheriff Harris to keep them away from other witnesses.

SALOON LICENSE JUGGLING.

A License-holder is Responsible for His Saloon's Debts.

The involved and mysterious administration of the affairs of a May street saloon, run by one Culp, who could not obtain a license for himself, under a license obtained for his benefit by P. F. Gibbons, was yesterday the object of a vigorous denunciation by Judge W. M. York. In an opinion on a suit brought by R. A. Levy to obtain a judgment against P. F. Gibbons for liquors sold to him, and on appeal from a justice court, the Judge declared that on the part of Messrs. Gibbons and Culp "there seems to have been no conscience brought into the transaction, and a design to defraud some one seems to have been the inducing cause." Levy won his suit. The decision means that the man to whom a license is issued is responsible for the saloon's bills.

The opinion sets forth that the evidence shows that Gibbons obtained a license to conduct a saloon at No. 831 May street. The business was to be conducted "not by the defendant but by Culp, under some agreement between themselves which does not sufficiently appear." Culp issued, as manager, invitations to an "opening." Culp had no right, says the opinion, to conduct a saloon there or at any place on his own account, because he had no license therefor. Then Judge York strikes a blow straight at the heart of the affair.

"The reason why defendant obtained the license instead of Culp," says the opinion, "was that Culp wanted to secrete his property to defraud his creditors and defendant wanted to help him do so, or that both wished to defraud the city and territory of the city a license to defendant for Culp to do business under, when they would not have granted a license to Culp."

When Gibbons was attacked by a judgment creditor of Culp, he took the position that he and not Culp was transacting the business, and Culp was financing him. When Levy wanted pay for his liquors, Gibbons announced that Culp was the saloon proprietor.

"The defense in this action," concludes the opinion, "understands in fact, law or good conscience. Judgment will, therefore, be entered for plaintiff for the amount of his claim with costs."

CHARLES COMPTON ARRESTED.

Charged With Complicity in the Davis-Ware Forgery.

Charles Compton spent the night in the County Jail, having been arrested yesterday by Police Officer Fowler. Compton was brought before Justice Young in the Township Court after his arrest and arraigned on a charge of forgery. His examination was set for August 6, and his bond fixed at $2500. An effort was made to have the bond reduced, but to no effect.

Compton was arrested on a complaint sworn to by A. P. West. His is alleged to have been the brain that planned the forgery for which Davis and Ware were arrested and held to answer for recently. When Ware was arrested last night, Compton had been arrested he turned as white as a sheet and exclaimed, "What, have they got him, too?"

SILVAS CONVICTED.

Guilty of Raping Little Jennie Quinones.

Five minutes was the time consumed by the jury yesterday in finding Juan Silvas guilty of the rape of Jennie Quinones. Jennie Quinones is nearly 14 years old. A year ago she was caught not far from her home near Monrovia, thrown down in some weeds by the roadside and criminally assaulted by Juan Silvas, her uncle. Silvas escaped arrest some time after. He was tried yesterday before Judge Smith in Department One. The girl, her mother and her father were the only material witnesses for the defense.

A FORTUNATE MAN.

Three Times Escapes Punishment for Alleged Felonies.

Yesterday L. H. Scott escaped prosecution on a felony charge for the third time this year. The case in which he was charged with having been connected with an alleged conspiracy to send a gun into the County Jail to train-wrecker "Kid" Thompson, was dismissed by Justice Young yesterday in the Township Court on a motion made by Asst. Dist. Atty. Williams. The ground for the dismissal, as stated by Williams, was that there was not sufficient evidence on which to convict the defendant.

Scott will be a witness in the Tupper trial. He is a singularly fortunate man if he is a criminal, and a very unfortunate man if an innocent one. He has been arrested three times on three different charges of felony since last December, and each time the case has been dismissed and he has been allowed to go without punishment.

WILL BE REOPENED.

A New Complaint Issued for the Arrest of Rogers of Downey.

A second complaint was issued yesterday for the arrest of Rogers of Downey. Rogers was arrested on a charge of having been one of two men who called at the house of an old man named Hardy one night. They asked Hardy to loan them a double-tree, and then set upon him, beat him, and robbed him.

At Rogers's examination three men from Fullerton presented an alibi for him, and the case was dismissed by the Justice in accordance with the wishes of the District Attorney. New evidence has lately been found, and Asst. Dist. Atty. Williams says he is confident that he can prove the three Fullerton men guilty of perjury.

FLOTSAM AND JETSAM.

Miscellaneous Driftwood Thrown into the Courts.

PERMANENT MONUMENTS. The Board of Supervisors passed the following resolution yesterday:

"Resolved, that County Surveyor Wright be instructed to relocate at disputed points, the line between Los Angeles and Ventura counties in conjunction with the Surveyor of Ventura county, and to establish permanent monuments at the intersection of county roads."

GUARDIAN FOR AN INSANE. Walter Lampson filed a petition yesterday asking that he be appointed guardian for his wife, Mrs. Lovenia Lampson, who is an inmate of the Stockton Insane Asylum. Mrs. Lampson's estate consists of promissory notes in the amount of $300.

DECREE OF DIVORCE. Judge Van Dyke granted a decree of divorce to a German woman named Maria D. Lassman, yesterday. Mrs. Lassman's husband, Carl Lassman, is a German, and has been cruel in the extreme to his wife, and often added insult to injury by getting uproariously drunk.

SHIPTON MATTER CONTINUED. In the matter of the guardianship of Elsie Shipton, which came up for hearing in Department Two yesterday morning, the case was continued for two weeks, upon motion of Attorney W. R. Bacon.

DUPAIN'S ESTATE. A petition was filed by Public Administrator Frank M. Kelsey yesterday asking for letters of administration to the estate of Joseph Duplain, who was killed in Santa Monica on July 9. Duplain left $500 in cash and $10 worth of property. He has no relatives here and left no will. Two men and a woman in Santa Monica have been held to answer to the Superior Court for Duplain's murder.

FLOVING IN FAST.

EIGHT THOUSAND ENDEAVORERS CAME YESTERDAY.

Committees Have Their Hands Full Handling the Crowds That Came from the North.

Eminent Divines to Preach.

Will Address Union Meetings in This City.

Twenty-eight Distinct Christian Endeavor Societies Here—Wonderful Growth and Development.

In all, ten special trains arrived from San Francisco yesterday bringing Endeavor delegates and visitors to the southland. Each train contained from eight to fifteen cars, and the number of visitors arriving here during the twenty-four hours is estimated at about eight thousand.

The experiences of the local Reception Committee on Thursday night satisfied the leaders that some arrangement would have to be made whereby the visitors could be assigned to hotels or lodgings or directed to the homes of friends before their arrival here, as it was found impossible to handle the immense crowds arriving at one time or at best but an hour or two apart.

Yesterday morning a number of sub-committees were selected and sent to various parts of the city, where they boarded the various excursion trains and called on all the delegates en route to this city. Being provided with all necessary information, these committees succeeded in their work so well that within half an hour after the arrival of every train yesterday and last night all the accredited delegates were housed as they desired and furnished with written or printed directions as to where to go and how to get to the "where." The committee's hardest task will come today when delegations such as that from Ohio, 800 strong, will arrive as rapidly as safety will allow one special train to follow another. The specials have been run as sections to the regular trains heretofore, but today and tomorrow extra specials other than the "sections" will be run.

At the headquarters of the local Christian Endeavor Society in the Y. M. C. A. building, there is a register kept which should be used by all delegates having friends here. The register provides for not only the name and home address of the visitor, but his address while here in the city and the length of time he will remain. If visitors register in this way friends will easily find them, and the thousands and more mail inquiries as to whether Mr. or Mrs. and Miss So and So is in the city and "where they will be" will be answered. So far some eight hundred delegates have availed themselves of the register, which has proven a great convenience to visitors and friends alike.

Several eminent divines from the East, South and North have signified their intention of remaining in Los Angeles or some of the near-by towns for their summer vacation, and a plan is already under way by which all these gentlemen will be asked to visit Los Angeles and address union meetings of the people during their stay. Arrangements have already been perfected whereby Rev. Josiah Strong, of New York, the religious-political speaker and writer, will deliver two lectures here on Monday week on the "Civic Sabbath." Other equally interesting speakers will be heard.

The local Endeavorers desire it understood that the Chamber of Commerce meeting tonight is for the citizens who are not members of the society, as well as for those who are, and the visitors.

PROGRAMME FOR TODAY.
Open house at the Y. M. C. A. rooms on Broadway near Second street, all day. Delegates are asked to call and register.

Citizens' reception to visiting delegates of the Christian Endeavor Society at the Chamber of Commerce at 7:30 to 10:00 p. m. Address of welcome by Gen. Charles Forman of Los Angeles. Response by Charles L. France of Toledo, O. Promenade concert and refreshments. Delegates are requested to wear their badges in view.

At 8 o'clock p. m., Rev. Francis E. Clark will address a mass meeting at Pasadena.

SUNDAY EXERCISES.

The programme for Sunday exercises is still incomplete, owing to the non-arrival of a number of speakers who were allotted to various pulpits in this city. The following programme gives all the assignments made up to midnight of Friday:

Dr. Francis E. Clark, founder of the Christian Endeavor Society, will speak in this city on Sunday as follows: At 11 a. m., sermon in the Immanuel Presbyterian Church; at 2:30 o'clock, afternoon, an address before the mass meeting of all Christian churches and societies at Simpson Tabernacle; at 8 o'clock Sunday evening, address to members of all the East Los Angeles churches at the East Side Presbyterian Church.

Rev. J. W. Cochran of Madison, Wis., formerly assistant pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of this city, will preach at the Immanuel Presbyterian Church at 8 o'clock Sunday evening.

Rev. J. H. Bomberger of Columbus, O., will preach at the Memorial Baptist Church at 11 o'clock Sunday morning.

Rev. M. Rhodes, L. L. D., of St. Louis, Mo., will preach at the English Lutheran Church, Eighth and Hope streets, at 11 o'clock Sunday morning.

Rev. J. W. Darby of Evansville, Ind., will preach at the East Side Presbyterian Church at 11 o'clock Sunday morning.

The pulpits remain to be filled today, if the speakers selected arrive. There will be special music at St. John's and St. Paul's Episcopal churches, both morning and evening Sunday.

LOS ANGELES SOCIETIES.
There are in Los Angeles at the present time twenty-eight distinct Christian Endeavor societies, with a membership of nearly two thousand, exclusive of the Epworth League of the Methodist Church, of which there are twenty societies in the city, and which has the same objects and aims as the Endeavorers.

Up to this time no history of the organization, growth and work of the Christian Endeavor Society in Los Angeles has been prepared. Of the various societies mentioned, it may be said, in general, that they are grouped under what is known as the City Union, of which C. S. Mason is president. In every respect are in a flourishing condition. The convention on this Coast has awakened new zeal among the Los Angeles Endeavorers, more especially as Leonard Merrill of this city was chosen president of the State

Union at the recent convention, and he desires to have the local city union of the Coast here at his home. In the near future the Los Angeles Endeavorers will extend the scope of their work, and several projects of no small moment will be taken up. The organization started here with but a handful of young people in 1883, and has grown steadily since. When the Methodist Church established the Epworth League, the members of the Christian Endeavor societies who were also members of that denomination, withdrew and joined the league of their own church, but both societies have worked in harmony here as elsewhere. All other Protestant churches in the city are joined in the Endeavor movement.

PASADENA.

PREPARING TO RECEIVE THE CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORERS.

They Will Be Taken About the City in Carriages—Expense of the Mount Lowe Recreys—Pasadena Entries in the Santa Monica Tennis Tournament.

PASADENA, July 16.—[Regular Correspondence.] Pasadena will give a warm welcome tomorrow to the expected throng of Christian Endeavorers. The delegates who are in Los Angeles have been notified that Saturday is to be Pasadena day and a cordial invitation has been extended to them to visit this city. Every arrangement has been made for the comfort of the visitors. They will be met as soon as they arrive by members of the Reception Committee and will be taken to the headquarters at the Presbyterian Church. The church has been beautifully decorated with the colors of the society and with a profusion of flowers. Carriages will be in waiting at the church to carry the visitors about the city. Though a large number of carriages have already been promised, more will be needed and the committee requests that persons who have carriages and are willing to assist, to report early Saturday morning to Frank E. Burnham, chairman of the committee, at the Pasadena Christian Endeavor headquarters.

The Board of Trade directors at their meeting this morning voted to contribute $15 for the purpose of hiring carriages for the visitors. Father Clark, the founder of the Christian Endeavor Society, will arrive from Redlands at 4:15 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. A reception will be tendered to him at 7 o'clock in the headquarters at the Presbyterian Church. At 8 o'clock he will deliver an address in the church.

There has been some uncertainty whether Rev. Josiah Strong, D.D., will be able to speak in Pasadena Sunday evening. Word was, however, received this evening that he will come. He will deliver an address Sunday evening at the Tabernacle, under the auspices of the Pasadena Christian Endeavor Union.

IT COMES HIGH. A cross complaint by the receivers of the Mount Lowe Railway, filed in the Superior Court, shows that a receivership in which the receivers are rather high. The document recites at some length the history of the litigation and the appointment of the receivers on July 28, 1936. It alleges that the railway and hotels have been run more cheaply since that time than ever before. The court is then requested to allow to the receivers a total compensation of $1000 per month. C. W. Brown, who has devoted his whole time to the road, receives $1000. I. B. Newton $200 and W. C. Patterson $200. The court is asked to make this allowance from the date of the appointment of the receivers to the present time and to make it a first lien upon any funds on hand or to be realized by the sale of the property. In addition an allowance of $5000 as attorney's fees is asked. This would make a total of $17,000 as the cost of the receivership for the first year.

Prof. Lowe was asked this evening about the allegation that the railroad and hotels had been operated more cheaply than ever before. He admitted that this might be true, but he said that the only reason that the hotels had cost less was that they had very little patronage.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT. The tennis tournament which is to be held at Santa Monica on July 28 for the championship of Southern California promises to draw a large attendance from Pasadena. Among the entries for singles is L. R. Freeman, the present champion, and J. R. Freeman, L. R. Freeman's brother, and the doubles in which they now hold the championship. Other Pasadena contestants are John Daggett and J. S. Craven.

SAN DIEGO COUNTY.

Legal Complications Over the Citizens' Traction Company.

SAN DIEGO, July 16.—[Regular Correspondence.] Five months of negotiations to effect a settlement of the troubles of the Citizens' Traction Company have come to naught. Every indication points to a legal battle over the assets that will be a tremendous one for months to come. The General Electric Company sues to recover possession of the electrical equipment. The Washburn-Moen Company and others have attachment suits against C. W. Foote, president of the company, and others on the company's notes. The Rialto Hotel Works has an attachment pending in the Supreme Court upon the rolling stock of the company. The Union Trust Company has a suit pending for foreclosure bonds. Local creditors have commenced insolvency proceedings against the company and C. W. Foote. The road will continue to be operated by the receivers. After the expenses and costs of litigation are added about the only ones benefited will be the receiver and the attorneys. Twelve thousand dollars in receiver's certificates were recently sold to parties representing J. D. Spreckels, the owner of the rival street-car system, and he will probably ultimately acquire the plant.

MRS. KERNODLE DEPOSED AS LIBRARIAN AT SANTA ANA.

Miss Kate Garnett of Pueblo, Colo., Elected as Her Successor—Held, Bad Burglar Caught—Some New Fruits—Court Proceedings.

SANTA ANA, July 16.—[Regular Correspondence.] Three votes of the Board of Library Trustees last night elected Miss Kate L. Garnett librarian of the public library. Thus was Mrs. Helen Kernodle unseated from her position and the petition of 400 of Santa Ana's citizens thrown to the winds. The fight has been a long one and has been characterized by much strong feeling on both sides. It is now over, and a stranger to the city will henceforth preside over the destinies of the office which Mrs. Kernodle has held so long.

On the first ballot Miss Garnett received two votes. Mrs. Kernodle two and Miss Clara Dennis of Los Angeles one. The second ballot gave Mrs. Garnett three, and Mrs. Kernodle two. Though the election was by secret ballot, it is known that the votes of Kersh, Galloway and French went to Miss Garnett, while Mrs. Kernodle received the votes of Greeley and Blaby.

Miss Garnett is a sister of Dr. W. M. Garnett of this city, and is presently employed in the McClelland Public Library of Pueblo, Colo. She is scheduled to take charge of the position on or before September 1.

The action of the board has been the talk of the street today. Few people have been able to endorse the board's action and it has been openly intimated that the end is not yet. There is a chance for some legal controversy, as the election of Miss Garnett is not believed to be in accordance with section 841 of the Civil Code, which provides that "no person is capable of holding office or appointment in the city of the age of 21 years and a citizen of this State." The question is whether or not the election of Miss Garnett is a valid one, and on this point there is room for much contention.

The new appointment comes very highly recommended by the business good qualifications for the position.

BURGLAR CAPTURED.

A bold, bad burglar entered the house of H. K. Snow, in Tustin Wednesday night and carried away a quantity of silverware amounting to about $25 in value. He wore a mask made of a piece of burlap and his appearance was so hideous that the children played at the house and were very frightened away and he went in and helped himself. When he came out he asked one of the boys for some money and on being told he had none, proceeded to go through the boy's pockets, but found nothing. He then came to Santa Ana, where he was captured by Night Riders, and taken to the Sheriff's office. He was known as James Day. His examination will be held next Monday before Judge Huntington.

THIS IS THE THIRD TIME Mr. Snow's house has been robbed within two years.

Mr. Snow is in Washington in the interest of Orange county fruit growers.

SOME NEW FRUIT.

Felipe Zarate has received from Sonora, Mex., a small lot of guayules, a fruit entirely new to this section of the country. It is grown on trees about the size of a plum tree, and the fruit is the shape of a bean, enclosed in long pods. The fruit is white and solid, contains a black seed, and is a staple article of food among the people of that section, especially among the poor. It is rather tasteless when uncooked, though it is said to make a very succulent dish.

Mr. Zarate will make experiments in growing the fruit here, and thinks that it should do well in the swamplands west of the river, as it grows much like the guayule of that section. He started the tree growing without any cultivation.

He also received a small box of a fruit called "chocolate," which is a fruit resembling a fig, is blood-red in color, contains a large number of seeds and is very sweet to the taste. Mr. Zarate has a large number of these at his home, but it has never yet produced any fruit. It could probably be grown here, and Mr. Zarate intends to experiment further in this cultivation.

He has succeeded also in interesting local nurserymen in the new fruit, and it is possible that they will make arrangements for caring for a number of plants.

COURT CALENDAR.

In the Superior Court today Mrs. Regugio Garcia was granted letters of administration upon the estate of her husband, Dolores Garcia, who was murdered at Capistrano June 18. Her bond was fixed at $2250.

John Coberly, who is charged with the crime of rape committed on twelve-year-old Blanche Cunningham, appeared in court with his father. The date for the arraignment had been set for June 30, but the defendant did not appear in court.

The sum of $500 was declared forfeited, and a bench warrant issued for his arrest. Subsequently he came to this city and was arrested by the police.

He explained that they had not been notified of the date set for arraignment, and upon this showing the order for his arrest was rescinded. The defendant thereupon insisted upon an immediate arraignment and pleaded not guilty to the charge. Trial was set for July 27.

LOS ALAMITOS.

New Sugar Factory Ready to Begin Work Next Monday.

LOS ALAMITOS, July 16.—[Regular Correspondence.] The crop of beets in this locality is rapidly maturing and the prospects are good for a fair average yield. The new factory is complete and the delivery of beets will begin next Monday. This means the distribution of several hundred thousand dollars to pay for the beets grown on 3500 acres, for labor, fuel and the necessary supplies. It goes without saying that the beets raised in Los Angeles and Orange counties will receive great benefits from this new center of distribution.

This place now has a newspaper, the Los Alamitos Bee, and the same in particular has found that it has a sting, in its effects second only to the "stingaree."

Hon. William A. Clark of Butte, Mont., president of the Sugar Company, was a visitor here this week, noting the great improvements which have taken place since his visit last winter, this being only one of the many vast business interests under his control. Other recent visitors were T. R. Cutler, manager; C. A. Granger, superintendent; and W. Ingalls, manager of the Lehi, Utah, factory. They spoke in the highest terms of the merits and completeness of this factory.

Rev. D. D. Hill removed here some time ago and is living in a cozy parsonage on the lot donated to the society by the Hixby and Clark companies for a church, and the church building, 40x54 feet, is now ready for the roof. The Ladies' Society of the church recently netted $27.50 from an ice-cream social.

George A. Mohrenstecher has been appointed secretary of the Hixby and Clark company, vice P. J. Capitani resigned.

The prospects are good for a three-department summer school to be opened soon. Teachers have already been engaged.

The factory receives its water supply from five immense artesian wells completed by the veteran well-borer, A. J. Bramlette.

Guy S. Dyer of San Francisco, has accepted a position as chemist at the beet refinery here. He has been in the beet business for many years and is ready to be ordered in, and the results are very satisfactory.

VENTURA COUNTY.

The Sheep Industry Reviving—Hot Water Supplied by Fog.

VENTURA, July 16.—[Regular Correspondence.] Some years ago the raising of sheep for meat and wool was one of the most profitable industries of this county. Indications point, at present, the industry is reviving. The climate and soil are adapted to raising the largest, hardiest and best breeds of sheep. There is always an abundance of food for the sheep, and the foothills. Local butchers say there is a growing demand for mutton, and that it is far superior to Arizona beef.

Black Nickerson and others, many of whom have never visited that place since they came away nearly half a century ago.

CHINO SCHOOL BONDS.

The proposed building of the Gird High School at Chino upon land donated by Richard Gird, caused the issue of bonds to the extent of $20,000. When you swallow a drug think of the following bids received: W. J. Hayes & Son, Cleveland, O., $222 bonus; J. H. Conger, Los Angeles, $488; Helman & Sartori, Los Angeles, $283; J. J. Cooper, Los Angeles, $291; Farson, Leach & Co., Chicago, $225; De Van & Co., Los Angeles, $220. The award was made to the latter bidder. The bonds are 6 per cent, running ten years.

NOT HOT ENOUGH.

This has been a remarkably good year for the propagation of scale on fruit trees. While black, red and white scale abounds in other counties, San Bernardino is only troubled with black to any extent. This variety is said to be very liable to sunstroke, but Horticultural Commissioner Pease, after an investigation in and around the county, reports the black scale just as healthy as though the mercury had not been above the 100 mark, the last few days. It is evident the black scale has become acclimated, or else the Ontarios have a new breed of salamander scale that will not succumb to the rays of the midday sun.

The commission has secured a large supply of chemicals and will try the effect of fumigation of the salamanders, for Commissioner Pease says they must go.

AGAIN THE PHEASANTS.

The proposal to bring here and stock the county with the Montolian pheasant is calling out a variety of opinions on the subject. They are claimed to be death to fruit-insects, while others claim they are death to grain and will devastate the fields as soon as they have the chance and become numerous. Some claim they propagate very rapidly, while others say they are very shy breeders and that the chicks

John C. More Non-Suited in His Damage Suit.

SANTA BARBARA, July 16.—[Regular Correspondence.] John C. More was non-suited today in his $10,000 damage suit against C. A. Storke and Mrs. Miller for malicious prosecution. Mrs. Miller is executrix of the estate of A. P. More and the plaintiff is one of the heirs. Storke and Miller two months ago had J. C. More arrested for disturbing the peace, a constable going to Santa Rosa Island to get him. More alleged in his complaint that his arrest was similar to that of Storke and Mrs. Miller to get him off the island so that he could not see what was going on there. The defense put in a motion to return the case, alleging that the plaintiff had not substantiated his charge of malicious prosecution.

A CHARMING RESORT.

MANY SUMMER VISITORS AT SAN DIEGO AND CORONADO.

People Beginning to Appreciate the Delights of the Bay Region—One of the Grandest Views in the World to Be Had at Point Loma.

SAN DIEGO, July 16.—[Special Correspondence.] The present season promises to be an unusually interesting one at Coronado and the San Diego Bay region generally. A few years ago this locality was known only as a winter resort, but the completion of the Santa Fe Sur line from Santa Ana south to this city, and the inauguration of good train service, has perhaps done more than any other one thing to bring the fame of this locality to the front as a most delightful place for summer sojourners. The natural features of the bay region, such as climate and the opportunities for the indulgence in almost all kinds of pleasant outdoor sports, of course, existed previous to the completion of the Sur-line railroad, but the means of reaching this most desirable locality were limited, and as a natural result many intending visitors remained in ignorance of what was really in store for them in this bay region.

Following upon the completion of the Sur line, the construction of the great Hotel del Coronado, one of the most colossal hotels in the United States, did much to attract the fashionable tourists from all over the world. In addition to becoming famous as a winter resort, Coronado now stands second to no other point on the Pacific Coast as a summer resort, and the steady increase of summer arrivals bears out this statement. There is no better climate in the world and amusements are plentiful for the entertainment of visitors. One of the five grandest views in the world, says Charles Dudley Warner, is obtained from the top of Point Loma, only across the entrance of the bay, from Coronado, where, looking down nearly three hundred feet, is the Pacific Ocean to the right, the entrance to the beautiful bay of San Diego on the left, and some distance away can be seen the city of San Diego, superbly located. Still farther, the Cuyamaca Mountains and the mountains of Mexico rise up to the sky, forming as they do the boundary line between the two republics.

From Los Angeles two daily trains equipped with day coaches and parlor cars make the run to San Diego in four and one-half hours and the ride through the fertile Santa Ana Valley, the large and most productive in the southern portion of the State, and along the ocean shore from Capistrano, south, makes one of the prettiest and most interesting trips eastern tourists can possibly take.
